

Can You Help Save Britain for Tea?

Do you want to:

- Put pride back into the drink that defines us as a nation?
- Help create a completely new social drinking culture?
- Be in at the beginning of something which is going to grow across Britain and beyond?
- Help transform people's lives here and abroad through the work you do?

Albion Tea is restoring pride to our national drink by converting you to loose-leaf. We are doing this through Brew, the Tea Pub, a place with the atmosphere of a pub, but instead of pints of beer, pots of tea.

Brew, the Tea Pub is looking for an experienced General Manager who wants to use their skills to help people take pride in British tea. Someone who is excited by the idea of helping create a space that will grow across this country and beyond, setting a new standard in terms of tea and tea cocktails.

Brew, the Tea Pub has successfully crowdfunded gaining over 60,000 social media impressions and more than 20 pieces of media coverage. With a strong team including Iqbal Wahhab OBE, Founder of The Cinnamon Club, the Brew, the Tea Pub has more than a hundred years of combined experience in starting and running restaurants, bars, cafes and beverage retail businesses. We've opened our first, flagship Tea Pub in Tooting Broadway and are looking for the right person to help run it's day-to-day operations.

We're looking for someone who would be proud to work in a business that changes lives as well as the way people see tea. Brew, the Tea Pub uses teas that champion small tea growers and better ways of growing as well as providing work experience and job opportunities to ex-offenders, by partnership with the charities Switchback and Bounceback.

If you are an experienced, business-savvy GM who wants to make an impact commercially as well as professionally, you could be right for our Tea Pub. As we expand across the country you could move up within the company and become the area and then national manager of groups of Tea Pubs.

We're looking for someone to start being involved in the first Brew, the Tea Pub as soon as possible. The starting salary would be £24-26,000 p/a with the possibility of profit-sharing and stock options for the right candidate.

If you have one or more years' experience as a GM in a bar or alcohol-serving cafe and meet the other criteria in the Role Description then send your CV and a covering letter describing how you match those points and answers to the questions below to info@brewteapub.com

1. When was the last time that you took pride in a project that you were involved in? It doesn't have to be work or beverage related, it could be anything. Describe the situation and why you felt proud of what you had achieved in it.
2. What do you like most about your favourite pub or café? Try and paint us a picture about what you feel is good about it.
3. What makes you tick? What do you do outside of work?
